Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-4, 7-10, and 12-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Stoner (5987778).

3. Claims 1-5, 7-11, and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by McLane (4057853).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 5 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Stoner in view of Johnson (4896437).

Stoner shows a cover comprising a hollow base (13) with a hole (18), sidewall break (20), a leg member (14) secured to the base (discussed in column 6 line 26), and leg fastening means (28 and 30) substantially as claimed except for the exact means for securing the leg member to the base. Johnson teaches the use of hook and loop fasteners (21 and 22) for securing a leg member (14) to the lip (12) of a base (11). It would have been obvious to use hook and loop fasteners as taught by Johnson for the securing means in the cover of Stoner to allow the leg portion to be removably secured to the base portion for increased versatility.
